Celebrating Marriage as a Spiritual Discipline

This seminar is a unique look at marriage—not how to have a happier marriage, but how to use marriage as a spiritual discipline; that is, learning to use the challenges and trials of marriage to grow in character and draw closer to God. It asks the intriguing question . . .

What if . . .

. . . God designed marriage to make us holy . . .

. . . More than to make us happy?

Gary Thomas is a writer, and the founder and director of the Center for Evangelical Spirituality, a writing and speaking ministry that integrates Scripture, church history, and the Christian classics. His books include 'Sacred Marriage', 'The Glorious Pursuit', 'Sacred Pathways' and 'Seeking the Face of God'.

As a collaborative writer, Gary has written for such well-known Christians as Chuck Colson, Franklin Graham, Michael W. Smith, and Senator John Ashcroft. He is also one of the contributors to the Spiritual Formation Bible and the Couples' Devotional Bible, both published by Zondervan.

Gary has been married for over twenty years to his wife Lisa. They have three children, and live in Bellingham, Washington.
